

informed the public of the new procedure and eligibility requirements for participation in the test. The goals of the quota preprocessing prototype being tested, as set forth in the July 24, 1998 Federal Register notice are:

- (1) To reduce the processing time of quota entries;
- (2) To process quota entries submitted as part of the preprocessing program in the same amount of time as non-quota entries;
- (3) To increase the quantity of quota entries released within one calendar day of the arrival of the carrier; and
- (4) To equalize the submission of quota entries over the five-day work week.

The quota preprocessing test began on September 15, 1998; the six-month time period of the original test expires on March 14, 1999. Approximately 400 brokers and importers have participated in the test so far, and Customs has received 84 evaluations: 22 from brokers and 62 from importers. The initial test evaluations were positive, showing general acceptance of the program. However, Customs would have liked greater participation. In fact, the biggest complaint contained in the evaluations received to date is that the preprocessing test occurred at the end of the year when many of the quotas were filled 85% or more. Many participants felt that had the test been conducted at the beginning of the year, it would have received greater participation.

Because of this complaint that conducting the test so near to the end of the year was an unfair measure of the prototype, Customs is extending the prototype testing period through the end of this calendar year. This will enable the importing community to more fully participate in the quota preprocessing test and allow Customs to more fully explore the benefits and drawbacks of the program.

Accordingly, this document announces that Customs is extending the test of the quota preprocessing prototype at the ports where testing is already underway until the end of 1999. Those ports are: the port of Los Angeles; the port of New York/Newark; JFK Airport; and Los Angeles International Airport. Anyone interested in participating in the test should refer to the test notice published in the July 24, 1998 Federal Register for eligibility and application information. Any expansion of the test to other ports will be the subject of another Federal Register notice.
